

Preface

“Decision making is interplay between human factors and defined considerations which give rise to the law and practice of Meetings.”

This book is an endeavour to comprehensively analyse the legal and procedural aspects associated with Board and General Meetings under the Companies Act, 2013 and SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015. The procedural aspects and the legal interpretations given by various judicial forums have been incorporated to further explain the intent of law. Secretarial Standards, issued by ICSI which are an integral tool for explaining the provisions of law have been duly explained under each topic for the benefit of the reader.

An attempt has been made by the Author to follow the practical approach of the various procedures involved for Board and Shareholders meetings to facilitate the professionals in understanding the various concepts of the law with clarity and discharge their responsibilities effectively.

The author would like to put on record the appreciation for Taxmann Publications, Shri Rakesh Bhargava, Mr. Mitrapal Yadav, Mr. Punit Aggarwal and their team members for their commendable efforts in publishing the book.

We look forward to the feedback of readers to help us to make the book a true referencer for the professional fraternity.
