
Table of Contents

List of Contributors	xvii
Foreword	xix
Preface	xxi

Part 1

Domestic Tax Systems and International Double Taxation

Chapter 1: Introduction	1
1.1. General	1
1.2. Cross-border taxation and international conventions	2
1.3. Income and capital tax treaties	3
1.3.1. The structure of a tax treaty	3
1.3.2. The ambit of a tax treaty	4
1.3.3. Treaty rules relating to particular types of income, i.e. the “distributive rules”	4
1.3.4. Elimination of double taxation	5
1.3.5. Provisions restricting entitlement to treaty benefits	6
1.3.6. Prohibition of discrimination	6
1.3.7. Administrative provisions	6
1.4. Interpretation and application of tax treaties	6
Chapter 2: How Double Taxation Arises – The Role of Domestic Tax Systems	9
2.1. Connecting factors for fiscal jurisdiction	10
2.1.1. Residence as a connecting factor	11
2.1.1.1. Residence of individuals	11
2.1.1.2. Residence of companies	15
2.1.1.3. Residence of other entities	17
2.1.2. Citizenship as a connecting factor	18
2.1.3. Source as a connecting factor	19
2.2. International double taxation	19
2.2.1. Worldwide vs territorial tax systems	20

Table of Contents

2.2.2. Juridical double taxation	21
2.2.2.1. Source-source conflict	22
2.2.2.2. Residence-residence conflict	22
2.2.2.3. Source-residence conflict	23
2.2.3. Economic double taxation	23
Chapter 3: Double Taxation Relief	25
3.1. Methods of relief from juridical double taxation	25
3.1.1. Exemption method	26
3.1.2. Credit method	28
3.1.2.1. General provisions	28
3.1.2.2. Limitations on foreign tax credit	31
3.1.2.3. Excess foreign tax credit	33
3.1.2.4. Tax-sparing credit	35
3.1.3. Deduction method	35
3.2. Methods of relief from economic double taxation	36
3.2.1. Domestic context	37
3.2.2. International context	40
3.2.2.1. Participation exemption	40
3.2.2.2. Indirect credit	41
Part 2
Cross-Border Taxation and International Conventions
Chapter 4: Tax Treaties and Their Role in International Taxation	45
4.1. What are tax treaties?	45
4.2. Tax treaties and the domestic legal framework	46
4.3. The role of tax treaties	47
4.3.1. Avoidance of double taxation	48
4.3.2. Prevention of tax evasion and avoidance	49
4.3.3. Other objectives of tax treaties	50
Chapter 5: Model Conventions	53
5.1. Historical background	53
5.2. OECD Model	56
5.3. UN Model	58
5.4. US Model	60
5.5. ILADT Model	61

Chapter 6: Multilateral Tax Agreements	63
6.1. OECD Multilateral Instrument (MLI)	63
6.2. Nordic Convention	65
6.3. Andean Pact	66
6.4. CARICOM and other multilateral agreements	67
Chapter 7: Treaties on Administrative Assistance	69
7.1. Supranational agreements	69
7.1.1. EU Directive on Administrative Cooperation	70
7.1.2. EU Tax Recovery Directive	71
7.2. Multilateral agreements	71
7.2.1. Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters	72
7.2.2. Regional agreements	74
7.3. Bilateral agreements	75
7.3.1. Tax information exchange agreements	75
7.3.2. Intergovernmental agreements for the implementation of FATCA	76
Part 3 Income and Capital Tax Treaties
Chapter 8: Structure of Tax Treaties	81
Chapter 9: Scope of Tax Treaties – Persons Covered, Taxes Covered	85
9.1. Introduction	85
9.2. Persons covered	86
9.2.1. “Persons” who are “residents” of a contracting state	86
9.2.1.1. Collective investment vehicles	88
9.2.1.2. States, subdivisions of states and their wholly owned entities	90
9.2.2. Fiscally transparent entities	91
9.2.2.1. “Income derived by or through an entity or arrangement”	93
9.2.3. The right of a contracting state to tax its own residents	94
9.3. Taxes covered	95

Table of Contents

Chapter 10: Residence	99
10.1. Introduction	99
10.2. “Resident of a Contracting State”	102
10.2.1. “Person”	102
10.2.2. “Liable to tax”	103
10.2.2.1. Individuals	103
10.2.2.2. Companies	104
10.2.2.3. Other bodies of persons	104
10.2.2.4. “Liable to tax” versus “subject to tax”	105
10.2.3. “By reason of his domicile, residence, place of management or any other criterion of a similar nature”	108
10.2.4. “Includes that State and any political subdivision or local authority thereof”	109
10.2.5. The second sentence of article 4(1)	110
10.3. Dual residence	111
10.4. Resolving dual residence: Individuals (priority-ranked tests)	112
10.5. Resolving dual residence: Companies and persons other than individuals	115
10.5.1. Resolving dual residence through mutual agreement – The standard tie-breaker rule	117
10.5.2. Resolving dual residence through the PoEM test – The previous tie-breaker rule	119
10.5.2.1. The meaning of “place of effective management”	120
10.5.2.2. Determining an entity’s PoEM	120
10.5.3. Resolving dual residence through other rules	124
10.5.4. Inconclusive or missing tie-breaker rule	124
Chapter 11: Active Income of Companies	127
11.1. Business profits	129
11.1.1. OECD Model	129
11.1.1.1. Permanent establishment	134
11.1.1.1.1. Fixed place of business permanent establishment	136
11.1.1.1.2. Construction permanent establishment	142
11.1.1.1.3. Activity exemptions	146
11.1.1.1.4. Dependent agent permanent establishment	153

11.1.1.1.5. Parent and subsidiary companies	158
11.1.1.1.6. Closely related enterprises	159
11.1.1.1.7. Other types of permanent establishment	160
11.1.1.2. Attribution of profits to permanent establishments	164
11.1.2. UN Model	177
11.1.2.1. Permanent establishment	180
11.1.2.2. Attribution of profits to permanent establishments	183
11.1.3. US Model	185
11.2. Profits from international shipping and air transport	187
11.2.1. OECD Model	187
11.2.2. UN Model	193
11.2.3. US Model	196
11.3. Associated enterprises	198
11.3.1. OECD Model	199
11.3.1.1. The arm's length principle	199
11.3.1.2. Corresponding adjustments	200
11.3.2. UN Model	202
11.3.3. US Model	203
Chapter 12: Active Income of Individuals	205
12.1. Income from employment	205
12.1.1. OECD Model	205
12.1.1.1. General distributive rules	206
12.1.1.1.1. Overview	206
12.1.1.1.2. Significant terms	207
12.1.1.2. Exception for an insufficient nexus under article 15(2)	210
12.1.1.2.1. Overview	210
12.1.1.2.2. Significant terms	212
12.1.1.3. Exception for international traffic under article 15(3)	222
12.1.1.3.1. Overview	222
12.1.1.3.2. Significant terms	222
12.1.2. UN Model	224
12.1.3. US Model	224
12.2. Independent personal services	225
12.2.1. OECD Model	225
12.2.1.1. Distributive rules	226

Table of Contents

12.2.1.2. Significant terms	227
12.2.1.3. Deletion of article 14 of OECD Model	229
12.2.2. UN Model	230
12.2.3. US Model	231
12.3. Directors' fees	232
12.3.1. OECD Model	232
12.3.1.1. Distributive rules	233
12.3.1.2. Significant terms	233
12.3.2. UN Model	235
12.3.3. US Model	235
12.4. Entertainers and sportspersons	236
12.4.1. OECD Model	236
12.4.1.1. Distributive rules	236
12.4.1.2. Significant terms	237
12.4.1.3. Look-through rule for star companies	239
12.4.2. UN Model	241
12.4.3. US Model	241
12.5. Pensions	242
12.5.1. OECD Model	242
12.5.1.1. Distributive rules	242
12.5.1.2. Significant terms	243
12.5.1.3. Alternative provisions for source state taxation	246
12.5.2. UN Model	248
12.5.3. US Model	249
12.5.3.1. Pensions and other similar remuneration	249
12.5.3.2. Pension funds	250
12.6. Government service	251
12.6.1. OECD Model	251
12.6.1.1. Distributive rules for current income	252
12.6.1.2. Distributive rules for pensions	254
12.6.1.3. Exception for business-related services	255
12.6.1.4. Significant terms	256
12.6.2. UN Model	257
12.6.3. US Model	257
12.7. Students	258
12.7.1. OECD Model	258
12.7.1.1. Distributive rules	258
12.7.1.2. Significant terms	259
12.7.2. UN Model	261
12.7.3. US Model	262
12.7.4. Provisions for visiting academics	263

Chapter 13: Passive Income	265
13.1. Definitions	266
13.1.1. Dividends	266
13.1.2. Interest	269
13.1.3. Royalties	271
13.2. Taxation of dividends, interest and royalties	276
13.2.1. EU Directives	276
13.2.1.1. Parent-Subsidiary Directive (2011/96)	276
13.2.1.2. Interest and Royalties Directive (2003/49)	277
13.2.2. Tax treaties	279
13.2.2.1. Withholding tax	279
13.2.2.1.1. Dividends	279
13.2.2.1.2. Interest	282
13.2.2.1.3. Royalties	283
13.2.2.2. Availability of treaty benefits in respect of articles 10, 11, 12	284
Chapter 14: Taxation of Income from Immovable Property	287
14.1. Immovable property – Definition	287
14.2. Taxation of rental income	291
Chapter 15: Capital Gains	293
15.1. General remarks	293
15.2. OECD Model	295
15.2.1. Immovable property	298
15.2.2. Movable property of a permanent establishment	298
15.2.3. Ships or aircraft	299
15.2.4. Shares	300
15.2.5. Other types of property	303
15.3. UN Model	303
15.4. Indirect transfers of shares	305
15.5. Corporate reorganizations	306
15.6. Exit and trailing taxes	308
Chapter 16: Other Distributive Rules	311
16.1. Other income	311
16.1.1. OECD Model	311
16.1.1.1. General overview	311

Table of Contents

16.1.1.2.	Distributive rules	313
16.1.1.3.	Scope of application	316
16.1.1.4.	Income covered	316
16.1.2.	UN Model	317
16.1.3.	Tax treaties	318
16.2.	Capital	318
16.2.1.	OECD Model	318
16.2.1.1.	General overview	318
16.2.1.2.	Distributive rules	319
16.2.1.3.	Taxes covered	321
16.2.2.	UN Model	321
16.2.3.	Tax treaties	321
Chapter 17: Methods for Elimination of Double Taxation		323
17.1.	OECD Model	323
17.1.1.	Scope of articles 23A and 23B	323
17.1.2.	Article 23A – Exemption method	327
17.1.2.1.	Description, operation and effects of the method	327
17.1.2.2.	Switch-over clause	331
17.1.3.	Article 23B – Credit method	333
17.1.3.1.	Description, operation and effects of the method	333
17.1.3.2.	Tax-sparing provisions	336
17.2.	UN Model	337
17.3.	Conflicts of qualification	338
Chapter 18: Entitlement to Treaty Benefits		339
18.1.	General overview	339
18.2.	Pre-BEPS approaches to treaty abuse	340
18.3.	OECD Model	344
18.3.1.	Limitation-on-benefits rule	344
18.3.2.	Anti-abuse rule for a permanent establishment situated in a third state	346
18.3.3.	Principal purpose test	348
18.3.4.	Anti-conduit rule	351
18.4.	UN Model	352
18.5.	Article 7 of the Multilateral Convention	352

Chapter 19: Prohibition of Discrimination	355
19.1. OECD Model	355
19.1.1. General overview	355
19.1.2. Discrimination based on nationality	358
19.1.3. Stateless persons	360
19.1.4. The PE clause	361
19.1.4.1. The comparison	362
19.1.4.2. The “less favourably levied” taxation	363
19.1.4.3. Special taxes on PEs	365
19.1.5. Discrimination concerning deductibility	366
19.1.6. Discrimination based on ownership	366
19.1.7. Material scope of application	367
19.2. UN Model	367
19.3. US Model	367
19.4. Tax treaties	368
Chapter 20: Administrative Provisions	371
20.1. Mutual agreement procedure (MAP)	371
20.1.1. OECD Model	371
20.1.1.1. General overview	371
20.1.1.2. MAP upon the taxpayer’s request	374
20.1.1.3. “Interpretative” and “legislative” MAP	377
20.1.1.4. Procedural recommendations	378
20.1.1.5. Arbitration	378
20.1.2. UN Model	380
20.1.3. Tax treaties	381
20.2. Exchange of information	381
20.2.1. OECD Model	381
20.2.1.1. General overview	381
20.2.1.2. The duty to exchange information	383
20.2.1.3. Protection of the information received	384
20.2.1.4. Limitations to the exchange of information	385
20.2.2. UN Model	385
20.2.3. Tax treaties	386
20.3. Assistance in the collection of taxes	386
20.3.1. OECD Model	386
20.3.1.1. General overview	386
20.3.1.2. Scope of the provision	388
20.3.1.3. The term “revenue claim”	389
20.3.1.4. Enforceability of revenue claims	389

Table of Contents

20.3.1.5. Limits to the duty to assist	390
20.3.2. UN Model	390
20.3.3. Tax treaties	390
Part 4
Interpretation and Application of Tax Treaties
Chapter 21: The Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties	393
21.1. Application of the Vienna Convention (1969) to tax treaties	393
21.2. Interpretation of treaties according to the Vienna Convention (1969)	398
21.2.1. Textual, subjective and teleological approaches to treaty interpretation	401
21.2.2. General rule of interpretation	402
21.2.2.1. Good faith	403
21.2.2.2. Ordinary meaning	406
21.2.2.3. Context	406
21.2.2.4. Object and purpose	408
21.2.2.5. Further authentic elements of interpretation	410
21.2.2.6. Special meaning	412
21.2.3. Supplementary means of interpretation	412
21.2.4. Interpretation of treaties in two or more languages	414
Chapter 22: Role of the OECD Commentaries	417
22.1. Relevance of model conventions and their commentaries in the interpretation and application of tax treaties	417
22.2. Status of the OECD Commentaries	419
22.2.1. OECD Commentaries as an element in the general rule of interpretation	419
22.2.2. OECD Commentaries as supplementary means of interpretation	423
22.2.3. Other views	424
22.3. Time issue in the use of the OECD Commentaries: Static vs ambulatory approaches	427
Chapter 23: The Role of the OECD Multilateral Instrument	431
23.1. The impact of the MLI on the tax treaty network	431
23.2. The functioning of the MLI	432
23.3. Interpretation of the MLI's wording	438

Chapter 24: Interaction between Domestic Law and Tax Treaties	439
24.1. Position and effect of tax treaties	439
24.2. Domestic meaning of treaty terms	441
24.2.1. Definition of treaty terms	441
24.2.2. Meaning of undefined terms	441
24.2.2.1. General interpretation rule under article 3(2)	441
24.2.2.2. Conditions for the application of domestic definitions	442
24.2.2.3. Static or ambulatory interpretation	443
24.2.2.4. Conflicts of qualification	444
24.2.2.5. Diverging definitions in domestic law	445
24.3. Treaty override	446
 Chapter 25: Lifecycle of Tax Treaties	 449
25.1. Introduction	449
25.2. Conclusion of tax treaties	449
25.2.1. Negotiation and initialling	449
25.2.2. Signature	452
25.2.3. Ratification	453
25.3. Entry into force and effective date	454
25.4. Amendment and modification of tax treaties	456
25.5. Termination and suspension of tax treaties	458
25.5.1. Termination of tax treaties	458
25.5.2. Suspension of tax treaties	461
 Chapter 26: Tax Treaties and Dispute Resolution	 463
26.1. Dispute resolution	464
26.1.1. Domestic remedies	464
26.1.2. Treaty remedies	465
26.1.2.1. The mutual agreement procedure (MAP)	465
26.1.2.2. Arbitration	467
26.1.3. Advance pricing agreements	467
26.1.4. The EU scenario	468